No 1315.

To RALPH FREEMAN, Esq;

SIR,

I HAVE always the Pleasure of reading your Papers, but never had the Honour of writing one; nor did I ever aim at it till now. The Occasion of my sending you this, is, that I am reported to be one of the Authors of the Political Essays in favour of the Administration, and have been applied to by a Friend to know how I subscribe myself. How I came to be suspected of having a Share in the honest and useful Performance I cannot tell, or why they should single me out from amongst other useful Subjects to his Majesty, and Friends to the Government. I have often indeed freely spoken my Mind, and sometimes ventured to commend what they call a Ministerial Paper. I am sure in this I am not singular, but am sorry to find I have no more with me in my Sentiments.

I do not pretend to Skill in Political Matters, tho' I have made some Remarks on what hath pass'd in Britain for near Fifty Years, and have been acquainted with Men of Judgment and Experience, before some mighty Statesmen could write their Name. It may be I am grown an old Woman, but have not yet forgotten what Treatment King William met with from a Party, whose Spirit appears in the present Opposition. I remember very well, how in all his glorious Designs for the Publick, he was misrepresented, hamper'd, and even rudely insulted, by Jacobites, High Church, and pretended Patriots.

The same Management I observe in the present unnatural Confederacy, which some please to call a Coalition of Parties. Whatever else they differ in, they agree to find Fault with every thing the King doth, and insinuate to know beforehand, that in every thing depending, which Way soever they determine, they shall be represented as having done wrong: They shall be run down however Things turn. If wise Counsels fail of Success, they shall be called weak, or worse; if they succeed, they shall be represented as successful Pollies, (as a certain Baronet called the Victory at Blenheim); if what they clamour for be done, it should have been done sooner, or is not now designed to answer the Ends pretended, and either by Iniquity or Folly in the Managers, will make Matters still worse.

This Spirit of Divination furnisheth Matter for perpetual Clamours, and has help'd to gain on the Unreason and Jealousy of the Discontented. I remember enough to say this is no new Thing; I have liv'd in Five Reigns, and remember how we were represented as an impoverish'd, enslav'd, ruin'd People, even in the best of them; and in the worst of them, just Apprehensions were ridiculed. All was well while the Men of the same Spirit with the present Malecontents had the Administration in their Hands; and when these People get the Ball at their Feet, it will be so again. For my part, I expect no Perfection in any Administration on this Side of Utopia. Ministers will be Ministers, and Men will be Men. If the present Complainants gain their Point, and get into the Places, (which, from their great Merit, they expect) the Mill will still be the Mill, even tho' you put in honest John; and what will it be if Men get in whose general Character is not a Whit better than their Neighbours.

But still as I was taught Loyalty by those who afterwards forgot it, (I mean before the Revolution) I keep in the old-fashion'd Way. While the Sovereign keeps to the Law, (from whence it seems the Word Loyalty comes) I owe him not only Obedience but Honour, and should not look upon myself as an honest Man, if I did not render him his Due, any more than if I deny'd to pay my just Debts. And whilst his Ministry let Justice have its Course, or, if otherwise, the Sovereign is ready to hear reasonable Complaints, properly made, I think myself, and every Subject, bound to treat them with proper Respect; and therefore I think the Writers in the Opposition much to blame, in that they do what I am satisfy'd they would not be content to bear. Ask Mr. P——, if he would be pleas'd with the Usage Sir R—— meets with, and whether he would bear it without some effectual Expressions of his Resentment, especially, if he were every Day and Week to have the meanness of the People halloo'd upon him. I wish my Countrymen would remember they have their Religion, Liberties and Properties, as they were confirm'd by the Revolution, entire, and safe under the present Sovereign; and not join with or encourage a Party, who have been so long determined Enemies to them all.

I hope I may say all this without being counted a mercenary Scribler. Perhaps it may be said I am now entering into Pay; I assure you I have receiv'd no Advance; and it seems Discouragement enough to find in a Paper * of known Authenticalness, that there has been a considerable Reduction of the Ministerial Hackney Scribes; and that those continued in Commission are much lessened in their Pay; so that as this is the First, I design it shall be the Last Time of aspiring to a Share in that Service, which however I wish well to. Farewell and prosper.

UMBRIUS,

* Lond. Even. Post, July 19. 1739.

LETTERS concerning Poetical Translations, and Virgil's and Milton's Arts of Verse, &c. Printed for J. Roberts, in Warwick-lane.

For the immediate Cure of BARRENNESS in WOMEN, tho' of many Years Continuance, and proceeding from what Cause soever,

And also of IMPOTENCY in MEN, however occasion'd, or of so long Standing,

The Famous and Inestimable PROLIFICK ELIXIR,
The highest, richest and most powerful Cordial in Nature, is recommended,

BEING the only true and infallible Cure

for BARRENNESS in WOMEN and IMPOTENCY in MEN the Universe, and which it at once accomplishes without the least Trouble, even after all other Remedies have fail'd; as Thousands have experienced, and that by promoting the fruitful Curricule of the Blood and Juices, raising all the Fluids from their languid, depressed State, to one more florid and sparkling, opening all Obstructions, fortifying the Nervous encreasing the Animal Spirits, restoring a Juvenile Vigour, and evidently replenishing the crispy Fibres of the whole Habit, with a generous Warmth and balmy Moisture, and thereby invigorating it to such a Degree as not to be injured, but by those who have experienced how exceedingly and sensibly it renews, recruits, and powerfully strengthens all the Animal Faculties, and Generative Powers in both Sexes. It enforces a bright, lively Disposition, banishes Melancholy, and inspires Mirth and Gladness of Heart beyond Expression. A-bundance of Ladies, who for several Years were deemed incurably Barren, have after twice taking it, conceived and become Fruitful; and great Numbers of Gentlemen, who by fast living, or otherwise, had render'd themselves incapable of Procreation, have soon been enabled by it to propagate their Species, inasmuch, that very many illustrious Families, who for want of Children, were almost inconsolable, are now blest with happy Issue, and are (under Providence) indebted to this Great Medicine for their Heirs. It rectifies all Disorders of the Stomach, creates an Appetite, procures a good Digestion, and in all Weakness of Body, or Decay of Constitution of any Kind, is a most infallible Restorative, and even keeps back the Effects of Old Age itself. It is to be taken just a few Drops at a Time, has a very fine Flavour, is pleasant to the Palate, Cordial to the Stomach, and can be had only at the Two Blue Posts in Haydon-Yard in the Minories, at 2 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions.

They effectually remove all Pain occasion'd by Cold, Rheum, the Tympanum or Drum of the Ear, free the auditory Nerve from Obstruction, and remedy all Defects of the Hearing Faculty, & most in an Instant, causing those to hear exceeding quick and well, who before were in a Manner totally Deaf.

Hundreds who were so very bad, as not able to hear a thing when beat close by them, and therefore despair'd of being ever relieved, have been quickly and perfectly cured by them, to their great Joy and Admiration.

In a Word, nothing in Nature can come near them for the cure and almost immediate Cure of DEAFNESS, proceeding from what Cause soever; but the great Esteem and Reputation they have justly gained for many Years past, have occasion'd (as usual in such Cases) many Counterfeits to come abroad; beware therefore of such Impostitions, these excellent and only true Specifick Drops being to be had only by the Author's Appointment, of the Greenish women at the two Blue Posts in Haydon-Yard, in the Minories, at 2 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions, and no where else in England.

The only infallible and speedy Cure for the most confirmed LEPROSY, either of the Moist or Dry Kind, Common Itches, and other slight Foulnesses of the Skin, it compleatly cures almost in an Instant, without Troubles, and for the worst Scabbiness, and most grievous Leprosy, may certainly be depended upon as absolutely infallible, as the Patients themselves in three Days Time will assuredly find.
